Case No.80/2019

2. Keeping in view the averments of this petition alongwith the definition of "Consumer" and "Services", as provided in clause (c) and (k) of Section 2 of the Punjab Consumer Protection Act, 2005, it is crystal clear that the petitioner is a service provider while the respondent is a consumer, therefore, the case in hand does not come within the jurisdiction of this court and the cause of action of the petitioner is not proceedable under the Punjab Consumer Protection Act, 2005, hence, the instant case is liable to be returned to the petitioner for its re-institution at the proper forum, therefore, it is directed to be so returned.

3. The Registrar and the Reader of this court are directed to return the case file to the petitioner or his learned counsel after retaining the requisite certified copies of the documents as record of this court and making the necessary entries in the relevant register, with an acknowledgment.

4. Ordered accordingly.
